"..fundamentally, whether you're driving a great big Hummer SUV or some Al Gore-approved green SUV that weighs 5,000 lb, they're both an obscene waste of energy no matter if the energy comes from a coal-fired electric plant or a wind farm. Light and nimble is a wonderful thing...all the things that people know in Europe, just seem to be unconsidered over here. You know motorcycles must be very big and loud and chromed, and must bark and smoke, and you only ride them on Sundays -- dear God, that's not what a motorcycle is! A motorcycle is a wonderful way to go somewhere, to enjoy doing so, without wasting a whole lot of energy." —Eric Buell, interview, Motorcycle Sport and Leisure, January 2011 <mslmagazine.co.uk>

Waterproof, Really / Review by flying_hun → Read more at aerostich.com

"It seems that every time I go on a long tour I am reminded that if something requires a cover or a liner to make it waterproof, then it isn't waterproof at all. These bags require neither, and are the only truly waterproof panniers—hard or soft—I've ever used. Just back from a ride in the UK and France that featured several days of heavy rain, and the contents of these bags remained dry. Flexible, tough, easy to get on and off the bike (Versys), and waterproof. The best I've used."

ORTLIEB DRY BAG SADDLEBAGS

Sometimes the best ideas are the simplest. Like this pair completely waterproof throw-over soft saddlebags: they are made of the same materials and use the same sealing system found on waterproof 'dry' bags. The easy loading top entry design rolls over and clips at both ends for a completely waterproof seal. Each bag's lower leading end is cut away for generous passenger leg clearance. The bikeside has a full width Thermo-molded pad to protect paint and bodywork. All webbing and hardware is top grade. Inside are several carefully designed polypropylene stiffener panels as well as a handy organizer pocket, and at the rear of each bag is a Scotchlite™ reflective area. Dry Bag Saddlebags are short enough to fit ahead of the rear turn signals on all motorcycles and are ideal for use on dual sport or sport machines. You won't find frivolous details here, just intelligent and functional bags that won't stick out too far yet will easily hold enough for a weekend camping trip. They are totally waterproof. Why did it take so long for someone to invent these? Easy to install and quick to put on or remove. Black or yellow waterproof coated fabric. 15"×13"×8" each with 3173 cu. in. combined volume.

Wolfman Enduro Bag / Review by Ratdog → Read more at aerostich.com

“This tank bag has been in use on my 06 Suzuki DR650 for about a month and fits real well. I can refuel with out removing the bag, a big plus. This little bag holds a fair amount of “stuff”, first aid kit, extra elk skin gloves, multi tool, flash light, glasses cleaner, folded paper maps, Aerostich fleece bags for other “stuff”. Hey there is still more room!!!! The bag fits real snug to the back side of the tank and does pose some issues when I’m up on the pegs, but it is not a major issue. I never had a Wolfman bag and I’m very pleased with the construction, zippers seem heavy and pulls are sufficiently large enough with gloves. Reflective stitching is employed and is a nice safety feature.”

side zip bags / Review by Danman → Read more at aerostich.com

Bought this bag to hold my Kermit folding camping chair. Not sure it would fit as the chair is 22" long and the bag is 22" long. The chair fit easily inside, the bag is generously large, and well made. Will be able to put plenty of other items in there with the chair, maybe even a tent. Haven't used it on the bike yet to test its waterproofness, but I like it so far and am considering getting a couple more of these bags as they will be great for tents, poles, thermarest pad or a down sleeping bag. I like how it will fit between my panniers and the body of the bike. It also has attachment loops sewn along the top to clip it together with other gear. A satisfying product at a good price.

WATERPROOF STUFF BAGS

Stop using garbage bags to keep your gear dry inside leaky saddlebags and packs. These totally waterproof stuff bags are thinner and more packable than regular dry bags, but are still tough enough to provide long haul wear. Compared to regular camping stuff bags, these nylon stuff sacs have an inside waterproof coating and fully tape sealed seams. There is a hard plastic roll-top to fold over the enclosure and a sturdy high density buckle connected by a web strap to secure the bag. They are lighter and much more packable than pvc type waterproof dry bags, and far more durable than slippery, ugly garbage bags. Nicer to use, too. XS-Orange, S-Yellow, M-Red, L-Blue.

AEROSTICH QUICK RELEASE CARGO STRAPS

The 1" quick release Delrin side release buckle allows superfast unloading. It is the strongest quick release Delrin buckle made (we tried many), and it will handle a minimum of 250 lbs. Sold in sets of 3 (carry a spare). These straps are more secure than bungees because they won't allow the load to shift on washboard gravel or bumpy paved backroads, no matter how far you are going or how fast you are riding. Similar looking straps in camping stores are usually too short to be useful for packing a bike and often are not-quite-strong-enough. These 1" wide flat webbing straps are over eight feet long (100"), and have a 1300 lb break strength. (Cut to custom lengths and fuse the ends with a cigarette lighter to eliminate fraying).

"This is my 'second trip to the well' for these straps, so I feel well qualified to rate them. My original quick release straps are still in use after 5 years and numerous trips (Grand Canyon, and Alaska!). The fact that these come in a long length makes them more useful than the ones offered at many of the outdoor outlets. In short, a great value."

Computer Sleeve review / Review by Dan

"The computer sleeve is a perfect companion to the AeroStich Courier bag for carrying my laptop every day back and forth, work and home. There's just enough padding without being bulky and the cushioning makes me feel better about the computer resting on the seat, especially when riding a few miles of gravel road each day on my commute with the DR 650. The extra large size sleeve fits perfectly within the Courier bag with enough space left over for a few small items."

AEROSTICH PADDED LAPTOP SLEEVES

Made of soft nylon with a foam padding, this lightweight sleeve has a hook and loop closed top flap and a plush interior. Mind you, this whole affair is not waterproof or super armored, so if the ol' Pentium shoots off the back of the Hayabusa after an enthusiastic clutch drop, it's gonna be toast. We make these ourselves because we could not find a simple padded, lightweight sleeve made in China. Funny, huh? 🇺🇸

If you do, get a Courier bag. Mine has hauled college books, a laptop, enough supplies for a small office, a water bottle, and my lunch for the past year. Yes, it's snug, but it all fits. I'm in the Northwest, and the only time water has entered the yellow cavern of this bag was when my old water bottle leaked. Winter storms, on and off the bike, failed to put more than two drops inside it. The corners are just starting to get fuzzy, and it has some stains, but not one thread has popped even when the weight exceeded 40 lbs.

“Ten years, 150,000+ miles, color now = character, beer holding, oil/brake fluid, tool, hydration pack holding, adjusting to any of the seven bikes in the barn. Bottom line, BEST piece of kit I have ever bought.”

BUILDING A BETTER BAG

These are the best. We've been making and refining our shoulder bags for over 20 years. The Aerostich Courier Bags were the first to use Cordura Nylon and to have integrated reflective areas. We introduced many other features now standard in other similar style bags. There's still a difference. You'll find these bags the easiest, most comfortable, and most convenient way to carry day-to-day loads on your bike. All bags are constructed of urethane-coated, 1000 Denier Cordura and are fully lined. A 2" wide adjustable nylon shoulder strap with a removable Ultrasuede shoulder pad is included (with all bags except the Letter Bag). Hardware is Fastex™ nylon, a wide strip of silver 3M Scotchlite™ reflective material runs across the flap, a big hook & loop strip beneath the flap, and a seamless bottom for maximum strength and durability.

“The versatility and durability of these bags is greater because the bags are simpler. An empty and well-worn courier bag hangs on the doorknob of the closet, right by the back door of my place. I grab it and go, filling it with whatever the mission requires. Some days it's groceries. Other times its books and papers. It's never exactly the same cargo twice.” —Mr. Subjective 2010

Like Father, Like Son

Last night I rode home from work late, at nine thirty p.m., on glistening wet streets surrounded by a sudden burst of the year's first thick snow flurries. They lasted only about five minutes—from while the motorcycle's engine warmed up as I stood beside it putting on my helmet and gloves, to about Lake Avenue...a distance of eighteen blocks. This crappy weather was an unexpected surprise because it had been sunny and gorgeous when I'd ridden in earlier. A crisp bright late fall day.

Every year I have only one experience exactly like this. It's singularly anticipated, and cannot be planned or expected. Dark wet streets and running water in the gutters. Air thick with irregularly clumping snowy whiteness. Thirty four degrees. Only a few cars. Emotionally and experientially it is exactly the same every year. I've probably enjoyed this identical ten-minute ride twenty times in twenty five years.

The puffy snow danced in the bike's headlight and streaked around my arms and shoulders -- each outsized cluster of flakes a tiny comet. They all followed a precisely smooth laminar flow like an endlessly darting school of phosphorescent tropical fish that stretched out before me forever. Otherworldly and surreal. I floated forward through this illuminated ocean of rarely visible air.

A few moments earlier I'd been looking absently at the gaseous stream of pulses coughing from the end of the bike's idling exhaust, anticipating this fun, and whatever unknowns were just ahead in the darkness. Somehow the pavement looked even oilier than it does during summer rains. Like a glistening black sandpaper made of diamond-sparkles.

I was internally giddy pulling on my already-partly-wet gloves, anticipating something that was both routine and idiotic...and now I was mounted and lowering the choke lever, then flipping the low beam switch—a self-added control which produces a loud and distinctly old fashioned 'click-snap' noise which can be felt though my glove fingertip as it toggles over. Unequivocally reassuring in it's miniature spring-and-metal way.

White flakes in the headlight's sudden brightness danced even more merrily—as if they knew they were on a stage, suddenly in a spotlight. Ho Ho Ho, Merry Christmas!

Closing the choke causes the bike to shudder, cough and die, so I thumb the starter a couple of times until the engine catches, then tenderly rev the throttle to clean out the misfire. It had been idling on full-choke for too long while I'd fiddled with my helmet and gloves. A few smaller twists, then a bigger one and the engine settles down to it's steady tuh-tuh-tuh-tuh idle. A complicated, comforting, reassuring old bass metronome. And now I was ready to go.

But another late-leaving co-worker is suddenly standing in the middle of the street, five feet away, pointing her cell phone camera at me and the surrounding snowflakes. In the background her car is idling in the empty lane, it's driver's door wide open. An amusingly thick spindrift of whiteness swirled up between us, again almost as if it somehow knew to increase the flakey performance for her camera. "I don't have enough light." she shouted just above the bike and wind. "It's a cheap phone camera. I'll email it to you if it comes out." "Ok. Great! Thanks! Have a nice night!..." She smiled and hurried back to the safety and comfort of the car. Nice lady.

I was anxious, and ready, so I released the clutch and rolled out across the car's two yellow headlight beams, waving with my gloved left hand, sweeping upward just a few inches above the ribbed handlebar grip. Her open hand replied, waving back from just behind the car's windshield. And then I was off like Zorro...or maybe someone else, just heading home from my job on a wet snowy night.

"I just did a spreadsheet analyzing my personal motorcycle costs/mile sort of on a dare from someone who reads my blog regularly. I thought I was going to prove how expensive motorcycles are to operate, but I pretty much proved that even my cranky dirt-cheap Ford Escort is more expensive to own than a reasonable motorcycle. I didn't expect that. It feels like I'm spending more money on the motorcycles because the expenses come in big chunks (tires and drive line). However, the fuel economy over-rules those costs substantially."

A baby completely changes every aspect your life. How do you add a little nipper without giving up your bike? Big problem. Recently the famous Millard-Marcus-Rebeka consultancy suggested an entirely new approach: A specialized baby onsie made of abrasion-resistant 500d Gore-Tex Cordura, with a full-length water-proof zipper, internal back padding and three webbed tabs per side, each holding two super-strong rare-earth magnets. There's also a 1" safety strip of 3M reflective above. Everything is designed to be safe and secure. Simply place child within and position on your bikes gas tank as if it were a magnetic tank bag. Then clip the safety leash carabiner to handlebar. It's that simple. Features a removable machine washable padded fleece lining, a protective top flap to protect that fragile cranium, and a removable shoulder-strap. Tested to 140 Mph. Specify blue or Pink in Small (1-6 months) or Medium (6 - 18 months) and appearance motif: Pirate, California Raisin, Mighty Mouse, Sponge Bob or Spiderman. USA
